

Removing the ban of major media cross-ownership will not serve the general public well. The ban was put in place to ensure we all have access to a wide variety of information sources, thereby stimulating our ability to apply critical thinking skills to use when reading multiple versions of a story. This is how we can get the truth. Removing the ban, removes the incentive of major media to provide the whole truth. It serves as a catalyst for further decline in the American public's ability to obtain the whole truth about policy and policy makers, and issues which will impact their lives. Please keep the ban, protect our access to information.
